RIDDLED

By Bullets from a Large Body of Insurgents.

Only a Few Wounded Escaped.

United States Troops Meet a Severe Reverse. The Insurgents Secure All the Company's Supplies and All Their Rifles Except Three.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Manila, Sept. 31.—General Hughes, commanding in the island of Samar, reports the arrival of a sergeant and a private from the fight at Balangiga with information that Capt. Connell, Dr. Groswold and Lieut. Bumpus were killed in that disastrous affair. The first reports said the officers escaped. The attacking force consisted of 400 Bolomen, about 150 of whom were slain by the Americans. The attack was so sudden that many of the soldiers were cut down before they could get to their arms.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The disaster to company C, of the 9th infantry, at Balangiga Island, of Samar, was reported to the War Department by Gen. Chaffee yesterday. It is the worst reverse our troops have met with since the war in the Philippines began. In fact it is the only one of serious magnitude. There have been other defeats but they were all of minor character. Of the twenty-four survivors who escaped eleven were seriously wounded.

ALL LOST BUT THREE.

The Corrected Dispatch From Chaffee Discouraging.

Washington, Sept. 30.—In a corrected dispatch this morning General Chaffee says company C. lost all but three rifles. The dispatch is silent as to fate of officers but the press despatches say they all escaped. An investigation will be made.

AT BREAKFAST

When the Filipinos Made Their Fierce Attack.

Manila, Sept. 30.—A disastrous fight between United States troops and insurgents occurred the 28th in the island of Samar, near Balangiga. A large body of insurgents attacked Company "C" Ninth infantry, only 24 members of the company escaping. All the others are reported to have been killed. The company were at breakfast when attacked and made a determined resistance, but the overwhelming numbers of the insurgents compelled them to retreat. Of the survivors, who have arrived at Basey, eleven are wounded. According to the latest returns the strength of the company was 72. The survivors include Captain Thomas W. Connell, First Lieutenant Edward A. Bumpus and Dr. R. S. Griswold, surgeon. Captain Edwin V. Bookmiller, of the Ninth infantry, reports that General Hughes is assembling a force to attack the insurgents. The insurgents captured all the stores and ammunition of the company and all the rifles except twenty-six.

Captain Lawrence J. Hearn, of the Twenty-first infantry, reports a severe engagement with insurgents near Candelaria, the Americans losing one killed and two wounded. The insurgent loss has not been ascertained. The Americans captured 30,000 pounds of rice and several hundred rounds of ammunition.

A SENSATION

In Official Circles at Washington Over the Report.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The war department has received the following dispatch from General Chaffee, dated Manilla, Sept. 29: "Hughes reports following from Bassey, Southern Samar: 'Twenty-four men, Ninth regiment, United States infantry, wounded, have just arrived from Balangiga, remainder company killed. Insurgents secured all company supplies, and all rifles except twelve. Company was attacked during breakfast, morning, Sept. 28; company 72 strong; officers, Thomas W. Connelly (captain); Edward A. Bumpus (first lieutenant); Dr. R. S. Griswold (major surgeon), escaped.'"

News of the disastrous fight between troops of the Ninth infantry and the insurgents in the island of Samar created a sensation in official circles. It was the first severe reverse that has occurred for a long time. Still the officials were not unprepared for news of just this character from Samar, in which the revolution started by Aguinaldo still continues. Samar is a country about as large as the state of Ohio, and the American forces of occupation number in all between 2,000 and 3,500 men. These are distributed among various posts in the island, a large number being located at the very important centers. Spain never made any effort to occupy Samar and it only has been for probably three months past that the United States has undertaken that work. The latest report by General Hughes to the war department was that the number of insurgent rifles on the island aggregated about 300. The Filipinos carried on a guerilla warfare and operations against them were difficult. The disaster to Company C, of the Ninth infantry, occurred, it is believed, while it was engaged in an expedition to clear the country of roving bands of these insurgents. The fact that the Americans were attacked while at breakfast indicates the daring and pluck of the insurgents.

Company "C" was a portion of the Ninth regiment of United States infantry, which went to China at the time of the Boxer outbreak and which there performed valiant service. Later the troops went to Manilla, and were engaged in provost duty in that city. During the past summer a battalion of the Ninth was sent to Samar. All the officers connected with company "C," which was almost wiped out by the insurgents, are named in General Chaffee's dispatch, there being no second lieutenant now with the company.

The captain, Thomas W. Connell, who commanded the company, was appointed to the military academy from New York in September, 1899, and First Lieutenant Bumpus was appointed to the army from Massachusetts, having served as a private in company "A," First Massachusetts heavy artillery. Surgeon Griswold is a recent addition to the army, having crossed the Pacific ocean with Adjutant General Corbin on his trip to the Philippines.

Several Shots

Exchanged Between the Two Sides.

San Francisco Policemen Had a Most Exciting Experience Yesterday.

Thirty Persons were Arrested and Charged With Having Participated in Shooting. Four were Strikers.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—A pitched battle between strikers and policemen occurred in Kearney street. Seven men are known to have been wounded, one probably fatally, and it is thought that several others who escaped arrest were injured. About fifty shots were fired. Four special policemen and a recently discharged naval man were made targets for a combined assault by a mob of strikers and sympathizers numbering, according to the declarations of the special policemen, at least 200. William Miller, striking teamster, was shot in the breast, and will probably die. The party of special policemen were on their way home from a variety theater. A big crowd was following them. A shot was fired and soon a regular fusillade ensued. The mob scattered in all directions, but not before a number of policemen arrived and succeeded in arresting about thirty of them. Four were identified as striking teamsters. They were heavily armed. Beehler, one of the special officers, was shot in the leg.

Not Authorized by the French Government.

Must Leave France Under the Provisions of the Law of Association,

Measure Which was Directed Especially Against Jesuits and Resumptionists. A Large Exodus.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Paris, Sept. 30.—Today is the last day before the law of associations takes effect. By this law, all religious orders not specially authorized by the government must leave France. This will be the largest religious exodus since the edict of Nantes. As a result of the law, three quarters of the religious orders existing in France a month ago have already emigrated, including Jesuits and Resumptionists against whom the law was especially directed except where individuals entered French families as tutors.

What Kitchener Would Do.

London, Sept. 30.—The Daily Express publishes a report that Lord Kitchener has asked for 35,000 more seasoned mounted men and for power to hang rebels, traitors and murderers without reference to the home government.

Schley Court of Inquiry.

Washington, Sept. 30.—In the Schley court of inquiry, Captain McCalla resumed his testimony. He testified that Schley's battleships did not get in range of the Cristobol Colon when an attempt was made in May, 1898, to destroy it as it lay at anchor in Santiago harbor. Shots, however, from the Spanish shore batteries struck over the line of the American warships. Captain McCalla said he attended a conference of commanders called on the Brooklyn on May 25. It was in regard to the work of the blockade. "Captain Evans," said the witness, "said to Commodore Schley: 'If the Spanish ships come out will you go in for them.' Commodore Schley said: 'Certainly' and arranged for a subdivision of the five ships if the enemy came out." Witness again contended that the weather and sea conditions on May 26, 27 and 28 were such as to permit coaling. On July 5 Captain McCalla claimed he said to Commodore Schley concerning the battle: "Commodore, after the battle of Lake Erie there arose an unfortunate controversy. I hope that no controversy will arise over the battle of Santiago, because there's glory enough for us all." This is the oft-quoted phrase which Schley incorporated into his report. It was admitted that the blockade maintained by Commodore Schley was effective.

Discovery of America.

Paris, Sept. 30.—An important work which throws light on the discovery of America by Columbus has been written by Henry Vignaud, first secretary of the United States embassy here. It is in French and will be published in this city October 1. Mr. Vignaud, who is the vice president of the Americanists' society of Paris, has made a life study of the early history of America. He says: "The present work is intended to show that for the last four centuries we have been deceived by a fraud which hides from us the real beginnings of Columbus' project and that the famous documents ascribed to Toscanelli, the learned Florentine astronomer, were fabricated. I submit excellent reasons for believing that Toscanelli never wrote the letter of 1474 to King Alfonso of Portugal, and never traced the chart alleged to have accompanied it. Columbus' design was not founded on any scientific basis, but on positive confirmation as to the existence of lands to the westward."

Mrs. McKinley's Condition.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Mrs. McKinley had two drives again. On account of inclement weather the outing was confined to the streets in the city. It was said at the McKinley home that there has been no material change in her condition and that she continues to bear up remarkably well.

HOT FIGHT

Between British and Boer Troops

Resulted in the Repulse of the Latter

With a Heavy Loss to Both Sides. The Boer Commandent was Killed. English Also Lost an Officer.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Durban, Sept. 30.—Fifteen hundred Burghers under the command of Gen. Botha were repulsed on the twenty-sixth, after an all day attack on Portitala, on the border of Zululand. The losses on both sides were heavy. Boer commandant Opperman and 19 men weer killed while the losses in the garrison were one officer and eleven men killed and five officers and thirty-eight men wounded, with sixty-three men missing.

SCHLEY

Case Still Grinding Away.

Jewell Talks

And His Evidence Conflicts With Schley

In Reference to Statements Imputed to Him by the Latter

As to What Jewell and Wise Said About the Presense of Cervera's Fleet at Santiago.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Washington, Sept. 30. — At the Schley court today Commander Miller who had charge of the collier Merrimac, said on May 26 he could have coaled at sea. On May 23 and 24 he coaled the Coma and Massachusetts.

Commander Miller's records showed that up to May 27 he had coaled nearly every ship in the flying squadron.

JEWELL TESTIFIES

His Statements Do Not Entirely Conform to Schley's.

Capt. Jewell of the Minneapolis, who was on the stand in reply to a question said he never told Schley he had seen nothing of Ceveras fleet, about Santiago. Schley in his official report made the beginning of the etrograde movement toward Key West said Sigshee, Jewell and Wise had been around Santiago for a week and told him they had seen nothing of Ceveras fleet. When cross examined by Raynor, Jewell said "the captains of the four scouts assembled on Harvard on May 23 and held a consultation. I have no knowledge of any communication made by Sigsbee in my name or that of others to Schley."

Schley Scores a Point.

Washington, Sept. 30. — Schley scored a point today when commander Miller said he could not have coaled on May 25 comforiably to himself or other ships. "It was nasty squally weather" he said, "and of my own wish I would not have attempted it."

Religious Editor.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Rev. Dr. William C. Gray, the venerable editor of the Interior, a publication of the Presbyterian church, died at his home in Oak Park. Dr. Gray, who was in his 70th year, underwent a surgical operation just before he left Chicago for his summer vacation in the Wisconsin woods. When he returned, a few weeks ago, he was in a weakened condition, due not only to the surgical operation, but to the growing infirmities of age. He grew gradually weaker.

Great Excitement in Canton Over the Assault That was Made

Upon the Guards at the Tomb. Belief That There was an Attempt to Blow Up the Tomb.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

Canton, Sept. 30.—The city is deeply stirred over the attempt of unknown parties to assault the guard at McKinley's tomb. It is the general belief that there was an attempt to blow up the tomb though some hold that the assault was the work of jail birds, who escaped from the city prison last night and were bent on getting weapons from guards to protect themselves from pursuit. The soldiers are prohibited from talking of the matter. Additional guards will be stationed about the cemetery.

Mill Men In a Fray.

New Philadelphia, O., Sept. 30.—Six men who superceded strikers at the rolling mill at Canal Dover, Ohio, claim to have been attacked by Hugh McDowell and James O'Neil, two men who had been refused employment when the strike had been declared off. The six men claim to have been followed from the mill and two of their number given a beating with clubs. To defend them the others shot at the assailants, O'Neil being hit in the small of the back and McDowell in the arm and hand. O'Neil is probably fatally hurt.

Street Car System Tied Up.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 30.—All the motormen and conductors of the Pensacola Electric Terminal railway went out on strike. The cars are tied up in the sheds and not a wheel is turning. The grievance is that the company put a nonunion man on one of the cars and instructed Motorman Ackerman to break him in. He refused and the company discharged him. The union men demanded that Ackerman be reinstated. The company refused to comply with the demand.

Another Walkout.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 30.—At a meeting of the strikers at Bay View who still remain out, it was voted to call out those of the radical element who recently went to work. The reason for the course taken is said to be because the Illinois Steel company is not paying the Amalgamated scale which was in force when the men quit in a body several weeks ago. The result will be, it is said, the shutting down of two of the nine-inch mills.

Forger Confesses.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 30.—H. G. Westall, of Asheville, N. C., was arrested here on the charge of having used the United States mails for carrying checks and drafts with the intention to defraud. Westall belongs to a prominent Asheville family and has a brother who is superintendent of the money order office at Havana, Cuba. He is charged with forging a draft on the Blue Ridge National bank of Asheville, which was accepted by E. V. Roddin & Co., Chicago jewelers, in payment for a diamond worth $175. He is charged also with forging a draft of $135 on the East Tennessee National bank of Knoxville. After his arrest he confessed all and said that he had forged between sixty and seventy checks in his lifetime.

Fierce Race Riot.

Longview, Texas, Sept. 30.—News has reached here of a race riot at Hallville, in Harrison county. A party of white men whipped a negro so severely that he died. They then attempted to break into the house of another negro, who shot and killed Julian Atwood. Armed citizens have been searching for Tom Walker, who is charged with the shooting and late reports say he has been hanged. The trouble arose over crop mortgages. It is said the negroes secured advances on their crops and then refused to fulfill the contracts.

Prince Chun Departs.

Berlin, Sept. 30.—Prince Chun, head of the Chinese mission of expiation, starts for China in obedience to a special command from his brother, Emperor Kwang Su. He will not be allowed to visit other European countries or the United States officially.

CHANGE

May be Made in the Church Name.

Some Members are in Favor of That Idea

Claiming That the Present Name is Misleading to the People. Important Questions to be Presented.

Special by wire to Times-Democrat.

San Francisco, Sept. 30.—Many delegates to the tri-enuial convention of the Protestant Episcopal church have already arrived. The convention opens Wednesday and the most important matter to be voted on is the question of prohibiting priests of the church from marrying divorced persons. The question of changing the name of Protestant Episcopal to something else will come up. The present name is held to be misleading by some of the delegates.

BOERS'

Property Affected by Notice

Just Sent Out

By Kitchener Giving a Notice of Sale.

The Proclamation Also Contains Notice of Perpetual Banishment

Of Certain Boer Leaders Who Have Been Captured Since Kitchener's Order Which was Issued September 15.

Pretoria, Sept. 30.—A pamphlet has been published under Lord Kitchener's authority containing notice of the permanent banishment of several Boer leaders captured since Sept. 15, and also a long letter from Lord Kitchener replying to a communication from Acting President Schalkburger received September 5. Lord Kitchener proposes to send the Schalkburger letter to the imperial government which, he says, reciprocates the Boer statesman's desire for peace. Lord Kitchener then proceeds to explain that the responsibility for the war rests with the burghers, "whose invasion of unprotected British territory opened the saddest page in South African history." He quotes a letter from a member of the Volksraad to a member of the Cape Colony assembly, declaring that "the time is ripe to drive the English from South Africa." In conclusion Lord Kitchener declares that, having annexed the two republics to Great Britain, he cannot break faith with the people who have shown loyalty to the new regime, and, so far as clemency to Cape rebels is concerned, this is the perogative of the ruler which must be exercised with unfettered distinction. A proclamation has been issued providing for the sale of properties of burghers still in the field in accordance with the terms of Lord Kitchener's previous proclamation.

MYSTERIOUS ATTACK

Made on the Guards on Duty at the McKinley Tomb.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—A strange story comes from West Lawn cemetery, where a company of regulars from Fort Wayne, Mich., are guarding the vault in which the body of the late President McKinley lies. It is to the effect that the guard on duty on top of the vault fired a shot at one man who refused to heed his challenge, that the shot was diverted by another man who appeared from another direction and that an effort was made to stab the guard. Captain Biddle, who is in command, was obliged to decline to be questioned at the camp. He will make a full report to his superiors at once. Private De Prend was on duty at the time. He says the man who attacked him was masked, but the other was not. One of the strangers remarked: "Lots of people would like to see this whole thing blown up."

Next Yacht Race.

New York, Sept. 30.—An anxious, but determined lot of yachtsmen gathered at the New York Yacht club for another talk over the exciting race of Saturday, when the Columbia won the first contest for the America's cup by only 31 seconds, including 40 seconds' time allowance. The chances of the Columbia in her next race with the Shamrock II. on Tuesday, were also discussed, as was the dread question of the prospects of the famous cup at last, returning from whence it came, after being in American hands a brief month over half a century. Every one hopes for the best and many recalled that during the preliminary racing with the Constitution and Independence, the Morgan boat had shown much speed when sailing with started sheets. In the race on Tuesday, if the wind holds true, two of the legs of the triangle will be sailed under these conditions. On these two reaches all the racers have shown great speed, and the Columbia has frequently made one of the ten miles of the triangular races in something under three quarters of an hour.

Cleveland, Sept. 30.—Believing himself the victim of malicious and unrelenting persecution, and thinking that he was ruined through the efforts of his enemies, Jacob A. LEPROSY IN FAIR HAWAII Disease Being Eradicated by Gradual Extinction of Natives.

DECREASE IN NUMBER OF CASES.

Scientific Treatment Has Had Little Effect—More Stringent Rules For Lepers of Molokai—Desire Expressed That the United States Take the Matter Up.

Leprosy is being slowly but none the less certainly eradicated in the Hawaiian Islands, says the New York Sun's Honolulu correspondent. Five years ago there were over 1,300 inmates at the leper settlement on the island of Molokai. When the annual visit was made a few days ago, there were barely 900. This is due not so much to any scientific treatment of the disease as to the gradual extinction of the native race, which alone, in the opinion of Superintendent Reynolds of the settlement, will cause the complete eradication of leprosy there.

Last year there were an even hundred lepers sent to the island, while only fifty have been sent during the first nine months of the present year. In the biennial period ending December, 1900, directly after the islands had been annexed, over 500 were taken to the settlement. This was due not to any increase in the disease, but to the fact that the question was taken out of the hands of the party previously in control, and many afflicted persons who had remained in Honolulu through political influence were hurriedly bundled off to the place of segregation.

A stockade has been built on the island, and, though the lepers are allowed to look upon visitors, it is at a distance of ten feet and through a high picket fence. The scene at this stockade, or corral, is a most pathetic one. The visitors to the island are led to it through a double row of guards, and behind another fence some distance away the lepers are compelled to remain. All day they look longingly at their relatives without even having the privilege of a hand clasp. It is this display of affection which physicians in Hawaii hold responsible for the spread of the disease to such an alarming extent in the past.

The disease is thought to have been brought to the islands by a Chinaman thirty years ago, and as soon as it once reached the natives the disease spread with great rapidity. The Hawaiians are much given to an outward display of affection, and it is still no uncommon sight to see even old men kiss and embrace on the streets. They smoke the same pipe, eat from the same dish and in other ways lead to a direct inoculation of the disease. The same reasons are given by the physicians for the great increase in tuberculosis among the natives.

Every accommodation is provided for the lepers at Molokai. They have their own homes, a school for boys and one for girls and seven churches for the little town of 900 people. Besides the lepers there about a hundred persons at the settlement, teachers, ministers and nurses. They have a town hall, where entertainments are given, and two bands.

Leprosy is not held to be a hereditary disease, and children born of leper parents in Molokai are allowed to leave. It is seldom that the parents consent to this, however, and their children are kept by their side until they, too, become contaminated. It was formerly the custom to allow wives to accompany their husbands to the island settlement, but this practice is now being discouraged, and only in rare instances is this permitted.

Of the 900 lepers on the island of Molokai all but fifty are native Hawaiians. There are only fifteen whites and thirty Chinese. Expert physicians who had made a lifelong study of leprosy in Japan, France and China have been in the Hawaiian Islands studying the conditions, but have found no suitable remedy for the disease that is effective. The local government has given up experiments upon the disease, and there is a general feeling that the United States should now take up the study of the disease with the purpose of effecting a permanent cure.

The principal object of the International Automobile club, which is to be the most select of its kind in the world and which is destined to become the home of automobilists from every country, is to create a vast autodrome in Paris, where each member will have a luxurious cabin and a special storage place for his autocar, and there will also be a large repairing shop, having communication with the track by means of a tunnel, says The Autocar. Races will be held on the track, which will also be available for trials and runs, and, in fact, everything will be provided for the convenience of members.

To Assist Immigrants to Canada.

G. W. Ross, premier of the province of Ontario, who has just returned to Montreal from a two months' trip to England, has concluded arrangements for a scheme of assisted immigration, says the New York Times. The deal is made with the Elder Dempster company and will, it is understood, come into effect next spring. The plan will first be tried with farm laborers, who are scarce in the province, and a number will be brought over who will contract to remain in the province and pay back their passage money within a specified time. The province will pay the shipping company.

JUDGE WILSON'S CAREER.

Brilliant Jurist Was Counsel In Many Important Cases.

Ex-Judge Jeremiah M. Wilson, Rear Admiral Schley's senior counsel, who died the other day in Washington, was born in Warren county, O., Nov. 25, 1828. He received an academic education and moved to Connerville, Ind., where he practiced law. His talents early commanded recognition, says the New York Times. He was judge of the court of common pleas from 1860 to 1865. At the time of his election to congress in 1865 he was judge of the circuit court.

In the Forty-second and Forty-third congresses he represented the Fourth Indiana district. During his terms in congress he had formed a firm friendship for Congressman Samuel Shellabarger of Ohio, and the two decided to make Washington their home. They formed a partnership and opened an office in the capital, where they won fame and fortune. They became known as among the foremost attorneys in Washington and continued in the front rank up to the time of their deaths. Mr. Shellabarger dying several years ago. In their early practice the chief business was in contested election cases in congress, Mr. Shellabarger having a national reputation as an expert in such affairs.

Ex-Judge Wilson was best known as a cross examiner and criminal lawyer and was employed in all the celebrated cases of a generation that were tried in the District of Columbia. He was especially prominent as counsel for the plaintiff in the trial of the suit against ex-Congressman W. C. P. Breckinridge brought by Madeline Pollard. Among the other well known cases in which Mr. Wilson was counsel were the star route trials, the Holt will case, the trial of Captain Howgate for embezzlement, the Oberlin Carter case and the Venezuela, Alabama, French spoliation and La Abra Mexican claims cases.

At the time of his death he was president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, a director in the National Fidelity and Deposit company and was largely interested in other corporations. He had also been attorney for the Union Pacific railroad and the Mormon church.

NEW RUSSIAN BATTLESHIP.

The Retvizan, a Powerful Fighting Machine Built by the Cramps.

The latest addition to a foreign navy from an American shipyard is the Russian battleship Retvizan, which was built by the Cramps of Philadelphia. She made her builders' trial trip off the Delaware capes a few days ago and developed a speed of eighteen knots under adverse conditions. This was highly satisfactory to her builders, who think that she will be capable of making still better time when superior coal is used and her hull is in better condition.

The Retvizan is one of the most powerful ships ever built by the Cramps, says the New York Tribune. She carries a battery of four 12 inch, twelve 6 inch and twenty 2 inch guns, all of Russian make from the Obrukoff works, and has also a secondary battery of twenty 47 millimeter Hotchkiss rapid fire guns. The armor plate which protects the great fighting machine is nine inches thick at the vulnerable part of the vessel and tapers off to five inches. The nine inch armor plate covers the vessel amidships, and the water line is further re-enforced by the protective deck, which is brought down to the edge of the belt plating. The constructors say that, except at close range, the ship's armor cannot be pierced.

The vessel is named after Retvizan, a valiant knight who fought with Rurik, the founder of the Russian empire.

TO DRIVE OUT ANARCHISTS

"American Patriots" Will Form a National Organization.

A national organization to clear the country of anarchists has been organized in a small way in Milwaukee, says the Philadelphia Press. It is to be called the American Patriotic Educational league.

The constitution sets forth that the enactment of laws to prevent the spread of anarchistic doctrines is practically ineffectual, but that these doctrines can be extirpated by appealing through educational means to public sentiment and by making these doctrines unpopular and contemptuous.

It is the purpose of the promoters to begin active organization throughout the city and state and later throughout the Union. A button will be adopted, and every person opposed to anarchy will be asked to wear it.

Dreams and Bats on Shamrock.

Shamrock's the only name known in my botany;
Shamrock I sing of and long for and pray.
Shamrock, my earrings, if ever I got any,
All should be risked on you day after day.

Who is there speaks, if it isn't to speak of her?
Is there a poet who writes her no ode?
Even my wife is, while owning it's weak of her,
Anxious to know "when the race will be rowed."

Staid and respectable fathers of families
Mad and unkempt with excitement are seen;
Seldom since Agincourt, never since Ramillies
Has such a chance of a victory been.

Will not our tears, should the Shamrock succumb, be a
Flood makes Deucalion's a thing to despise?
Will not disaster o'erwhelm the Columbia,
Wrecked in the hurricane raised by our sighs?

Dreams of the Shamrock in midst of calamities,
Dreams of her triumph each night on me flock;
Mightily I fall asleep murmuring, "Sham"—it is Certain I wake but to add to it "ock."

All the day long mine are doubt and disquietude;
Food seems but poison, and drink, too, that's flat.
If you would only examine my diet, you'd
Find it but Shamrock; I live upon that.

Oh, but my spirits aloft like a derrick (an Image that charms me) shall rise towering up!
Let her but prove that no more an American
Holds and shall hold the America's cup.

Chase's Nerve Pills. This is what Mrs. M. Baird, of 431 south Pine street, Lima, Ohio, says:

"Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills were used in two cases in our house following the grippe and in both instances toned up the system and nerves in a nice way. They gave in this way sleep and rest and this contributed to a rapid recovery. We are glad Mr. Melville, the druggist, called our attention to the medicine."

Double Murder.

Desoto, Mo., Sept. 30.—Daniel and William Greenhill are under arrest on suspicion of having murdered Mrs. Uren, their sister, and John Meloy, a suitor for her hand. The two were killed at the home of Mrs. Uren's father, Robert Greenhill. It was at first thought that Meloy had killed the woman and then shot himself. At the inquest, however, it developed that the forehead of each had been cut with some sharp instrument and bullets fired into the wounds. A bloody axe was found in the bed of William Greenhill and a blood-stained hatchet was discovered elsewhere in the house. These finds and the conflicting stories told by the brothers, caused their arrest.

PLAN TO CONTROL REDS

Immigration Bureau Working on System to Exclude Anarchists.

THEIR RECORDS MUST BE KNOWN.

All Immigrants Must Bring Certificate of Good Character From Port of Departure—Congressman Connell of Pennsylvania to Draft a Law. Identification System Planned.

Foreign anarchists will be excluded from the United States if laws are adopted in accord with the ideas now being worked out by Mr. Powderly, the commissioner of immigration; Representative Connell of Pennsylvania, and other members of congress, says a Washington dispatch to the Chicago Tribune. The head of the immigration bureau, who is disconsolate over the death of President McKinley, was pacing up and down before the treasury department the other day, turning over in his mind a scheme which if adopted will exclude foreign anarchists, and if they develop anarchistic tendencies after reaching here they can be deported at any time before they are naturalized. This scheme, as outlined by Mr. Powderly, contemplates naming certain ports in Europe from which immigrants will be allowed to land in the United States. At those ports officers of the immigration bureau will be stationed.

When a person desiring to enter the United States presents himself, he will be required to give a certificate of character from the time of his birth to the day of sailing. If this document shows the person is a member of an anarchistic or similar society, has ever been arrested for crime, is of an excitable temperament or develops any undesirable traits, these will be sufficient grounds on which the official can base his refusal to approve the certificate. If the certificate is approved by the official, the emigrant will be allowed to land when he reaches the United States, but if he should present himself at any American port without a certificate properly indorsed he will be refused entrance.

If a foreign government should object to the presence of an American official within its borders, then Mr. Powderly would favor the adoption of a law granting him authority to decline to allow any immigrant from that country to land here unless the United States is permitted to maintain bureaus which will enable its representatives to inquire into the character of proposed emigrants. It has been suggested that the consular officers act as representatives of the immigration bureau. There is objection to this, however, upon the grounds of divided authority. Mr. Powderly is in favor of placing the administration of the law of the character in the hands of either the state department or the treasury department and to hold the person who is to administer it responsible.

Representative Connell, who is one of the rich men of the country, is greatly interested in the subject and has been in conference with Mr. Powderly concerning it. So anxious is the Pennsylvania congressman that prompt action be taken that he has decided to draft a law on the lines indicated. He has also determined to employ at his own expense the best legal talent in the country to pass upon the constitutionality of the proposed law in order that it will stand a better chance of being declared constitutional in event of the supreme court being called upon to pass upon it.

In connection with the measure contemplated Mr. Powderly will also recommend the adoption of legislation which will compel all immigrants on landing to register and to declare their intentions as to citizenship. He also wants authority to keep watch upon all aliens for a period of five years or until they become naturalized. If during the time they are aliens they develop anarchistic tendencies, the commissioner general will recommend that the power be given him to deport them.

In addition to this he will recommend the adoption of the Bertillon system of measurement. He is now making a study of this system and is of the opinion it will be valuable to his bureau in keeping track of the aliens until they leave the country or become naturalized. The fact that aliens are being watched by a powerful government like that of the United States would, he believes, have a wonderful effect, as it would convince all aliens that they are on their good behavior and could be deported whenever they showed the least sign of making undesirable citizens.

Legislation requiring newcomers to declare their intentions would undoubtedly simplify matters for the general government in the event of a riot or of violence done to persons who claim to be subjects of foreign governments. Whenever a riot happens and a supposed foreigner is injured he immediately sets up a claim for indemnity and calls upon the government of the country from which he came to enforce it.

Foreign complications of a serious character have been threatened by incidents of this character, and it afterward developed that the person in question had either declared his intention of becoming a citizen or had actually been naturalized. With a complete record of every one who enters this country, it was pointed out by Mr. Powderly, it would be a simple matter to determine whether or not the victim of violence was a naturalized citizen or the subject of a foreign government. This would spare the country the disturbance to business and peace of mind which usually follows threatened international complications.

SHE TAUGHT WU TO WALTZ

Chinese Diplomat, Charmed With Miss Barksdale's Dancing.

"The prettiest girl I ever saw" is what Minister Wu Ting Fang says of Miss Clarice Barksdale of Augusta, Ga.

"As good a waltzer as I would wish to dance with" is what Miss Barksdale says of Minister Wu.

And thereby hangs a tale, for Miss Barksdale, the charming southern belle, whose sojourn in Washington has been one long round of entertainments, is given the credit of instructing Minister Wu so thoroughly in the art of waltzing that when he made his public debut in Newport, dancing with Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, society was surprised at his skill, says the New York Evening Journal.

"But where did he learn to waltz? And the two step, above all things! How and where did he pick that up?" So run the questions. As for Mrs. Fish, she doesn't know, but she says, with emphasis, that wherever he learned he dances most delightfully. As for Minister Wu, he looks mysterious, and says, "A lady of the south."

Well, here's the secret: The lady is a young girl of the southland, graceful, good to look upon, with the ease of the south as an atmosphere. Her name is Miss Clarice Barksdale, and she lives in Augusta, Ga. Miss Barksdale made her debut only this winter into society and was one of the belles at a large reception given at one of the finishing schools in Washington. Minister Wu was among the celebrities in attendance, and his eye was instantly caught by the graceful, handsome young girl, whose waltzing he declared the most beautiful ever seen by him.

An introduction was requested, and the minister begged the dancer to teach him this art, of which he was wholly ignorant. So in a corner of the drawing room the lessons began. Her distinguished pupil was much pleased by his progress and, considering a little learning a dangerous thing, came again and again and by his marvelous aptness proved great credit to his fair young instructress.

Just before leaving Washington a dinner dance was given in Miss Barksdale's honor at the Chinese legation. All the gay younger set of the capital were invited, and when the dinner was over and the dancing began great was the astonishment of the guests when their petticoated host, arrayed in the purple embroidery and white silk of honor, led out the dark eyed girl from Georgia. And well they danced, these two—on and on through the evening, through waltz and two step, until the final lesson was over.

Miss Barksdale pronounced the great statesman and scholar as good a waltzer as one would wish to dance with. And this is why Minister Wu showed no uneasiness when he led out Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish to dance before the critical eye of Newport.

Profit by Lima citizen's experience.

Mr. M. O'Connell, of 670 north Jackson street, says: For many years I suffered from my back and kidneys. I felt tired out and run down all the time and though I doctored and doctored it gave me no relief to speak of. There was an extreme weakness of the kidneys and the secretions were irregular and unnatural. I read statements of people who had gotten Doan's Kidney Pills from Melville's drug store and who had been cured by their use, so I decided to give them a trial. The first box did me so much good that I continued the treatment and although I am an old man, the trouble ceased to bother me."

Serious Conditions in Hayti.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Mr. J. N. Leger, the minister from Hayti to the United States, expressed surprise at the report coming by way of Kingston, Jamaica, of the arrest of prominent Haitians in Jeremie on the charge of conspiracy and of a serious condition of affairs in the interior of the island. He said that according to news just received by him the country was kept quiet. He added that there was no fear of an uprising.

The New Ship School at Kiel.

According to advices from Kiel the new high school there for the teaching of shipbuilding and construction of machinery will be opened in 1903. The school will be wholly in the hands of the state, but the cost will only in part be borne by the state, the town of Kiel contributing 15,000, says the London Express. There will be one department for the learning of shipbuilding, each course lasting one year, and another department for machinery, the course of instruction being divided into four quarters of the year, classes being held in the evenings and on Sundays for shipwrights, locksmiths and smiths. The Krupp Germania wharf has already promised as much as $1,250 annually for the next ten years toward the expense.

The straw hat still lingers in the lap of financial adversity.

No External Symptoms.

The blood may be in bad condition, yet with no external signs, no skin eruption or sores to indicate it. The symptoms in such cases being a variable appetite, poor digestion, an indescribable weakness and nervousness, loss of flesh and a general run-down condition of the system—clearly showing the blood has lost its nutritive qualities, has become thin and watery. It is in just such cases that S. S. S. has done some of its quickest and most effective work by building up the blood and supplying the elements lacking to make it strong and vigorous.

"My wife used several bottles of S. S. S. as a blood purifier and to tone up a weak and emaciated system, with very marked effect by way of improvement.

"We regard it a great tonic and blood purifier."—J. F. Duff, Princeton, Ills.

S. S. S. is the greatest of all tonics, and you will find the appetite improves at once, strength returns, and nervousness vanishes as new rich pure blood once more circulates through all parts of the system.

S. S. S. is the only purely vegetable blood purifier known. It contains no minerals whatever. Send for our free book on blood and skin diseases and write our physicians for any information or advice wanted. No charge for medical advice.

His Companion, Who is Also of the Tramp Species, Got Away With a Pair of Shoes from Mabby's Shop.

Early this morning two rough characters went into H. A. Mabby's shoe shop on south Main street for the purpose of stealing. The elder Mr. Mabby, was occupied with work when one of the fellows went up to him to engage his attention while the other could do the stealing. The old gentleman comprehending the situation immediately objected; whereupon, his unwelcomed visitor by main force attempted to push him into a back room. In this he was unsuccessful but before he could be prevented one of the robbers seized a pair of shoes and getting away with them. He has not yet been apprehended. His assistant was arrested, being now in the city prison.

Printing Plant Burned.

Logansport, Sept. 30.—The printing establishment of Wilson, Humphreys and Company, at this city, was gutted by fire, the loss reaching between $40,000 and $50,000, with insurance probably covering half the loss. Clint Whitsell and Charles McClusky, firemen, were badly injured during the run to the fire, but it is thought they will recover.

Josh Westhafer, of Loogootee, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by Wm. M. Melville, old post office corner.

USED OIL ON A FIRE.

Members of a Family Fatally Burned by the Explosion.

Pittsburg, Sept. 30.—As a result of an attempt to use oil to hurry along the kitchen fire Mrs. Barbara Sturgent is dead, her husband, Andrew, and their son, George, are dying, two other children of the family, Barbara and Andrew, are very badly burned. The family occupied two rooms of a tenement house in Braddock. Mrs. Sturgent, while getting the breakfast, started to pour oil on the kindling wood in the stove and immediately an explosion followed. The room was filled with clothing hung on a line to dry. In an instant the two rooms were a blazing furnace. Mrs. Sturgeat was burned to death, while her husband and son are literally cooked. The other families in the building were rescued by prompt work by the firemen.

A Shocking Calamity.

"Lately befell a railroad laboror," writes Dr. A. Kellett, of Williford, Ark. "His foot was badly crushed, but Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly cured him. It's simply wonderful for Burns, Boils, Piles and all skin eruptions. It's the world's champion healer. Cure guaranteed. 25c. Sold by H. F. Vortkamp drug store.

Will Visit Louisville.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The Cook County Democratic Marching club decided to visit Louisville in the interests of Charles Granger, Democratic candidate for mayor. The party will consist of over 300 marchers. According to present plans they will spend three days in Louisville cheering for the Democratic candidate.

Roosevelt at Church.

Washington, Sept. 30.—President Roosevelt attended divine services at the Grace Reformed church, his chosen house of worship, accompanied by his daughter, Ethel, and his son, Kermit. The little building was even more crowded than a week ago, when Mr. Roosevelt first appeared there as president. The president and his children walked from the white house. Without ceremony or ostentation he took his seat in the second row at the left of the middle section. At the close of the services the congregation remained standing while the president left the building.

"I had a running sore on my leg for seven years," writes Mrs. Forest of Chippewa Falls, Wis., "and spent hundreds of dollars in trying to get it healed. Two boxes of Banner Salve entirely cured it." Beware of substitutes.

The Republican administration claims that the Philippine war is over, yet the wires just bring in the news of a most disastrous engagement in which the Filipinos attacked a company of American soldiers and almost annihilated them. If this is the way they do when war is over what would be the result if the administration were to admit that a state of war existed?

One report which is expected to be made early in the next session of congress will be awaited with considerable interest in industrial circles. This is a summary of the results of an investigation by the department of labor into the effect of trade-school teaching on production, on economy in the use of raw materials, and on wages and the securing of employment. The investigation has been conducted so as to cover this country, the United Kingdom and the leading countries of continental Europe. One direction in which the report will be of special interest is in determining to what extent the United States is at present supplying technical training to its own artisans, and how far and in what lines it is drawing upon the trained classes of European artisans. The statistics bearing on this question will attract wide attention not only here, but abroad, for in the intensified competition in manufactures which the future will doubtless witness, the influence exerted by technical education cannot fail to be an important one.

A conference regarding the commercial policy of Germany, now being held in Munich, is attracting attention abroad, and some of the outgivings there have an interest in the United States. One of the speakers, Professor Lotz, of Munich, discussed the question whether an increase in the grain duties was compatible with the welfare of Germany, answering it in the negative. He argued that export was posible only when the cost of production was low, whereas the new tariff aimed at a higher cost of production. Professor Lotz warned his hearers against a tariff war with the United States, which, he said, would result in Germany losing her markets in South America, Great Britain and eastern Asia. A moderate increase of duties was advocated by Professor Schumacher, of Cologne, who thought that a duty of 6 marks for rye and 6½ marks for wheat would be justifiable. At the same time, he urged that full reciprocity in customs questions must be secured with the United States. He expressed the opinion that the scare of a tariff war is exaggerated, though, he added, Germany cannot fulfill every wish of the United States.

AS TO ANARCHISTS.

What shall be done with the anarchists? is a question that is receiving general consideration.

As in the case of any other disease, it is well to investigate the cause of anarchism in this country.

First, desire to tear down the government, is developed, in some instances, by the arrogance and partiality of political, social or capitalistic power. If government treats all men as equal, if the law smites the rich and poor alike, when they are equally culpable, the desire alluded to can be only part of the natural proclivities of the possessor, and is not a thing for which government or the external conditions are responsible. Anarchists made such in this country are very rare. Czolgosz seems to be one of them. His record, as thus far disclosed, shows that he was too lazy to work, too shiftless to hang on to a job when he got one; that he was fond of loafing on corners and frequenting saloons; that he was solitary and morose, with no close friends even among his relatives. He probably belongs to that class of fellows who start out with the idea that "the world owes every man a living," when, if the world owes anything at all, it is a chance for every man to make a living by industry and good conduct generally. With his disposition and ideas of responsibility so twisted, it was easy for Czolgosz to imagine that the plan of government was at fault. It was easy for him to enlarge specific cases of legal, social or political injustice, or partiality, into a plot against mankind in general.

This country will always have anarchists of the Czolgosz stripe, just as it will always have mad dogs, and it is possible that the treatment of these human and canine disorders should be similar.

Government kills a mad dog, just as it will kill Czolgosz.

Ugly dogs are tied up. Anarchists who preach and teach violence can be confined. They may have never bitten anybody and may never bite, but they are dangerous, just as are the unchained ugly dogs.

Secondly, the vast majority of anarchists in this country are immigrants. They have come over here with more or less reason for their hatred of all things governmental, and the danger from them lies less in what they themselves may do in the way of violence than in their influence upon the weak and worthless, like Czolgosz, whom we will always have with us.

In early times, it was the popular idea that this country was to be the refuge of "the poor and oppressed of all nations." The people have thought it wise, from time to time, to qualify or modify this. We exclude the Chinese, the paupers, the infected, and those under contract to labor. Indeed, there is considerable demand for restrictions against the cheap but able-bodied labor of all nations. If we can ward off physical and industrial disorders by exclusion, it seems only reasonable to make an effort, through similar means, to guard against political disease.

We can execute the anarchist who kills.

We can confine the anarchist who preaches or inspires killing.

We can exclude the migratory anarchist.

The home-made anarchist is the difficult problem.

It is a problem deserving the calm, courageous study and labor of all true patriots. This is not true when fear should turn my loyal statesman, publisher, preacher, teacher, or other genuine patriot from the work of condemning and expurgating those practices and customs which beget, nurse and rear to murderous maturity deadly hatred of this popular form of government.—Cleveland Press.

Tommy—"Pop, what does a politician mean by a constituent?" Tommy's Pop—"A constituent, my son, is a man who expects somebody to get him a job."

A DANGEROUS MEASURE.

What John Wanamaker's Paper Says of Ship Subsidy Bill.

Wherever you find an honest newspaper free from the control of the monopolists it is opposed to the Hanna-Frye ship subsidy bill. The Philadelphia North American says of it: "In spite of his failure to persuade or to bully the senate into passing his ship subsidy bill last winter, Senator Frye has summoned some of his friends to meet him in Boston the latter part of this month for the purpose of laying plans for a fresh assault on the United States treasury.

"If the Republicans of the last congress had been in favor of the policy of paying $9,000,000 a year to half a score of shipowners, the Frye bill would have been a law before now. As a matter of fact, Senator Frye lost ground the more he labored. He was never able even to bring his bill to a vote, and there was open satisfaction among some of the Republican senators at his discomfiture. The bill was so vicious in principle and so dangerous in tendency, opening the way as it did for a succession of special bounty schemes, that party leaders, while courteously silent in debate, felt thankful that they had been saved from a serious political blunder.

"Discussion of the provisions of the Frye bill has thoroughly informed the public of its real purpose. A renewal of the attempt to push it through congress will be a dangerous experiment. Against this active influence of the clique of favored individuals who hope to be made beneficiaries of the government will be arrayed the great mass of honest public opinion which resents the slugging out of a small number of profitable concerns for special regard at the expense of all the taxpayers. Senator Frye is doing the Republican party a great disservice by endeavoring to foist upon it in the guise of general legislation a bill drawn in the interests of a bare handful of prosperous shipowners."

SAMPLES OF PROSPERITY.

One For the Public and the Other For the Tax Collector.

Last fall, when the hired spellbinders of Hanna were carrying out the Hanna instructions to claim that the greatest prosperity in the history of the country had been brought about by the administration of President McKinley, there was one Belfield of Chicago who was especially loud on prosperity and short on veracity. The exposure of this hired orator is brought about by the inquisition of the Chicago tax commission, which is trying to make those prosperity howlers pay their share of taxes, which from the context they seem very loath to do. The Chicago News thus tells the story:

"Both reviewers and assessors laughed the other day over an interview with S. J. Klein, representing Joseph Bleifield & Co., who tried to get a reduction of the firm's assessment on the ground that it was losing money every day. The two boards sat in joint session. When Mr. Klein sat in the witness chair to plead the cause of hard times for the manufacturing firm he represents, a smile spread over the face of Assessor Gray, who innocently asked: 'How about those prosperity speeches made by Mr. Bleifield in Central Music hall last fall during the campaign, in which he asserted that last year was the greatest year of prosperity he ever had in his business?' Mr. Klein was taken off his guard, for he had finished saying the firm had lost money all of last year and that it was losing more this year. The reference to his partner's public statements to the contrary staggered him. 'Well,' he stammered, 'you mustn't take a man's political arguments too seriously.'"

Conspiracy Against Schley.

The Crowninshield-Sampson navy department clique are now said to have added forgery to their devices to down Admiral Schley by the falsification of the Vixen's log to make it appear that Sampson was present at the surrender of Cervera, when the genuine log shows that his flagship did not heave in sight until half an hour after the last Spanish vessel had surrendered. When the Schley investigation is over, congress will be in session, and an investigation of the whole disgraceful conspiracy should be ordered.

That is a strange tale that comes from Tampa, Fla., and monstrous if true—that a committee of citizens organized by the cigar trust kidnaped the labor leaders who were heading a strike of the cigar workers and transported them by sea to some unknown place. One of the kidnaped is said to have escaped from the vessel. How would it do for Morgan to kidnap the leaders of the steel strike and transport them beyond seas? These be strange times, my masters!

Protection in Germany.

The panic and hard times in Germany are not a pleasant topic of conversation with your rampant goldbug or protectionist, especially if you ask him what is the matter there. The gold standard and protection to German industries do not seem to have panned out just right.

Even Salt Controlled.

A New York dispatch reports the international salt trust as an assured fact, with a capital stock of $30,000,000. This trust can make it mighty interesting for all of us if it can control the supply. Salt beef, bams, bacon and ash will soon be a luxury.

Jefferson a True Prophet.

Thomas Jefferson forewarned his countrymen of the encroachment of the federal judiciary, and the limit to which government by injunction has been forced proves that he was a true prophet.

A Train at the Crossing

Near Findlay

But the Driver Escaped Injury.

A Valuable Colt, Purchased in Lima, Instantly Killed.

The Engineer of the C. H. & D. Passenger Expected to Pick Up the Mangled Remains of the Man—Notes.

At Reimunds Crossing, two miles west of Findlay, the fast C. H. & D. passenger, Friday evening, ran down a two seated surrey driven by Adam Walterrs, a hostler of W. A. Price, a music dealer of that city. Mr. Walters was driving a single horse and was leading on behind a thoroughbred 2-year old colt just purchased by Mr. Price in Lima at a cost of $150. He says he did not hear the approach of the train which struck the rear part of the vehicle throwing the driver out and killing the colt. The wrecked buggy with the body of the horse was carried about forty rods before the train could be checked.

The engineer backed up, expecting to pick up the dead body of the driver, but to his great surprise, Mr. Walters was found comparatively uninjured. In his flight through the air he was hurled about thirty feet and struck on his back, but was exceedingly fortunate in sustaining nothing but bruises.

When the engine struck the surrey, the king bolt was snapped in twain and the horse drawing the vehicle trotted on complacently with the front wheels.

C. H. & D. Notes.

The low rate excursion still catches the crowd, but its days are numbered and another week or two will wind it up for the season. A cheap trip from Cincinnati to Sidney was well patronized, about 350 being scattered along the line of the C. H. & D., the majority stopping at Piqua. Tickets were only good as far as Sidney and the empty train was brought here where the crew laid up until the return in the evening.

Engine 311 attached to train 97, sprung a leak yesterday and gave out at Wapakoneta. The 309 was sent out in her place.

The crew handling the excursion to Sidney yesterday, included Luke Grannon, engineer Thomas and brakeman Sweeney, all of Cincinnati. Grannan was for a long time with the road in Lima and he had no trouble finding many of his old friends. Brakeman Sweeney was formerly a C. H. & D. train dispatcher at Cincinnati, but his arm gave out and in order to take care of him, he was put in the train service.

Conductor J. C. Kohli, and brakeman C. H. Kohli are both laying off. Conductor Stockham and brakeman Ralston are marked up in their places.

Brakeman Forrest asked for and was granted a lay off yesterday for the first time in eight months. N. A. Perry was first out and will be on Forrest's run until the latter is well enough to return to work again.

Chief Dispatcher John Louy is home from Mt. Clemens, where he went for a course of treatment, but he will not return to work for some time yet, preferring to get back some of his wasted strength before again shouldering the important duties of his practice.

General Notes.

David Anderson, former Master Mechanic of the Northern Ohio, but who has recently been running an engine on the Clover Leaf, has resigned and tomorrow will begin service with the Lake Erie & Western as foreman of the terminal at Muncie, Ind. He will have employment for five machinists and five boilermakers and is looking for that number of men who want to make good wages.

Nelson Peltier, of Marion township, who is employed as a foreman on the Pennsylvania, was married this week to Miss Nettie North, of Van Wert. They will make their home in Fort Wayne.

No. 18, one of the big class E-2 passenger engines recently sent into service from the Altoona shops, has made its first trip over the Pennsylvania lines and is pronounced first class.

David Kiehe has brought suit in the Upper Sandusky courts for $1500 against the Pennsylvania railroad for injuries sustained while in the employ of the company.

SHOT AND KILLED

For Paying Attentions to Another's Wife—Missouri Tragedy.

Kansas City, Sept. 30.—Charles Hudspeth, of Mason City, Ia., shot and killed Charles Curry, of Lexington, Mo. Jealousy over attentions paid by Curry to Mrs. Hudspeth is said to be the cause. The shooting took place in the Hudspeth's rooms in Wyandotte street, where it is said Curry had been enticed by a letter written by Mrs. Hudspet at her husband's command. When the police arrived Curry was unconscious. Mrs. Hudspeth who was crying, greeted the officers with, "My husband shot a man who was not armed." Hudspeth submitted to arrest calmly. He is 30 years old and says he and his wife have been married five years and that they have a child. He had recently returned from a trip to Oklahoma and said he had come to look for his wife.

Accused of Extortion.

Manilla, Sept. 30.—Juan Cardona, who recently was president of Gerona, province of Tarlac, and who was appointed secretary of the Tarlac provincial government, has been arrested on the charge of accusing people of crimes for the purpose of extorting money from them. More than fifty persons assert that they have been robbed by him in this way, some declaring that they have even surrendered title deeds to property. Cardona has been considered one of the most reliable natives holding liberal views. An investigation, however, shows that for several years he was a bandit, and served two terms of imprisonment aggregating five years. The municipal authorities of Manilla have passed an ordinance doubling the size of the gates of the walled city in this part of the fortifications. It is possible that the military authorities will object.

Prisoners Break Jail.

Canton, O., Sept. 30.—Eight prisoners broke out of the county jail by sawing out bars over the window opening upon the court, between the jail and court house. They had five minutes start when discovered. Bloodhounds were immediately put on the trail. Only one prisoner remains, Micheal McGovern, held for a robbery in which the victim was tortured. He was regarded as the most desperate and was held on another floor of the jail. Those who escaped are: Frank Jones, assault with intent to rob; Rush Palm (colored) burglary; Harry Shea, indicted under the trump law; John Parker, charged with non-support of children; Stacy Llewelyn, burglary and larceny; Albert Moore, burglary and larceny; Frank Palm, burglary.

Family Poisoned by Fruit.

Wapakoneta, O., Sept. 30.—Three deaths have occurred in the family of August Neuman the past week in a mysterious manner. Three little girls were the victims. It is supposed the children ate fruit that had become poisoned by decay or in some other way, and though several well known physicians were called in the effects of the poison could not be overcome. At present Mr. Neuman himself and another daughter, 12 years of age, are seriously ill, and the daughter may not recover.

Express Drivers' Strike.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—The strike of the express drivers of two transportation firms bids fair to cause serious complications unless a speedy settlement is reached. One more attempt to reach an adjustment of the trouble will be made and in case of failure the officers of the transportation trades council, composed of freight clerks, truckmen and general merchandise handlers, have been empowered to call out every member of their various organizations.

Runaway Street Car.

Burlington, Iowa, Sept. 30.—A runaway street car crashed into a Burlington freight train and was smashed into kindling wood. Mrs. Charles Kupfer was killed and several others were injured. The most seriously hurt are George Stone, shoulder dislocated; A. C. Hutchinson, hand crushed; Miss Lutz, head bruised; Mrs. Smithers, injured about head.

Village Gutted.

Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 30.—Fire originating in the Mississippi hotel, at Clayton, swept two streets and destroyed five business houses and ten residences comprising the principal part of the town. The McGregor fire department was sent to the scene on a special train. Estimates of the loss range from fifty to one hundred thousand dollars.

The Bulls Fled.

Paris, Sept. 30.—A dispatch from Bayonne describes a bull fight in which an automobile replaced the horse of the picador. The novelty drew an enormous crowd, but seven bulls in succession turned tail and fled at the sight of the automobile.

VOTE

Decides to Make No Change

And Districts

Will Remain as They are Now.

Questions Presented for Discussion at the Ada Conference.

Time Limit of Elderships Brought Out—Several Decisive Addresses and There was a Unanimous Approval.

The Friday evening session of the Central Ohio Conference at Ada was opened with the usual services of song and prayer, followed by two beautiful anthems by the Ada choir. Announcements were made by Rev. Weare, the pastor, after which Bishop Walden was introduced and delivered a fine address.

Considerable important business marked the sessions held Saturday, there being several questions ably debated and discussed. Taking up the regular order of business, after devotional exercises, reports were called for and the pastors of Bellefontaine, Defiance, Delaware and Findlay districts responded. The following brethren and ladies were then introduced to the conference: Revs. Upp and Love of the north Ohio and Rev. A. B. Leonard, of the Detroit conference; Mrs. W. G. Williams, of Delaware, president of the Foreign Missionary society; Miss Juliet Wilcox, of the board of deaconesses and Miss Prather, of the Chicago training school.

The conference voted to recommend that Rev. Robertson be ordained and that the case of Rev. Gray, of Anna, be referred to the board of conference relations for location. The following were elected to elder's order: Rev. Aschan, Rev. McGlaughlin, Rev. Hoffman, Rev. Spykey, Rev. Keller, Rev. Gambel and Rev. Constein.

The afternoon session began at 3:30 with Bishop Walden in the chair, and following the regular order of opening exercises, the classes for ordination and admission on trial were considered. The following were elected to orders: Rev. Yoder, Rev. Smith, Rev. Littlejohn, Rev. McClary and Rev. Chenoweth; for elder's orders, Rev. Keller, Rev. Spyker, Rev. Charles Hoffman, Rev. Gamble, Rev. Fitch, Rev. Roberts and Rev. Constein; for admission on trial, Rev. Chenoweth.

One of the important features of the conference, and which was the order of the day for the Saturday afternoon session, was the resolution pretaining to the length of the term for presiding elders and the keeping of the districts of the conference intact. The resolution was divided and the time limit first discussed. Rev. A. E. Smith, Dr. E. D. Whitlock, Dr. Pope, Dr. Avann and Dr. Mills all spoke for the resolution eloquently and at length, and there was no dissenting speech, the resolution carrying unanimously.

The second part of the resolution as to the districts was next discussed and there was a division of opinion. Rev. Roberts, Dr. Belt and Dr. Avann argued for the reduction and Dr. Rutledge and Dr. Lance to keep the districts intact. A vote was taken and the majority favored leaving the districts undisturbed. Bishop Walden spoke on the question and the conference stood adjourned until 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon for the ordination service.

Services were held Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, Pastor Weare conducting the meeting and Mr. Heath leading the song service. Dr. Rutledge was introduced and made a stirring address on the subject of the trials of the early ministry and their needs. Bishop Walden spoke of the superannuated preachers' collection and at the conclusion of his remarks the services closed for the week with song and benediction.

The Egyptians used pencils of colored chalk, and several of these ancient crayons have been found in their tombs.

A FINE DISPLAY

At Mrs. F. Light's, at 134 north Main street, is one of the most magnificent displays of Ladies' Millinery and Furnishings ever brought to Lima. The display of French and Persian Pattern Hats drives the most particular into a paroxysm of ecstacy, and those who have visited the display, rush out and insist on their friends returning with them and enjoying what is to the feminine mind one of the grandest treats to be had. Hats this year will be of more flat effects than formerly and the gayest colors to be secured will be used. Combinations of black and white, grey and castor and gray shades. Green and castor will be a special favorite. Feathers, birds and breasts will be used extensively. Be sure and see the display before you buy.

A HOME MADE HAT

May and often does—reflect credit on the maker, but the work of our skilled trimmers, who have visited the New York importing houses, and give all their attention to the business, marks the best and latest in millinery. The newest hats are always at MRS. F. LIGHT'S, 134 north Main street.

TERRITORY

Enlarged at the U. B. Conference.

Four New Elderships were Established to Include Limo, Toledo, Fostoria and Marion.

Word has been received from the United Brethren conference now in session at Shelby, that the bounds of the territory have been considerably extended and four presiding elders established within the district. These are named the Lima, Toledo, Fostoria and Marion elderships.

The presiding elders chosen are Rev. W. O. Fries, of Fostoria; Rev. H. Doty, of Bowling Green; Rev. J. W. Lilly, and Rev. A. H. Ballinger. These have not yet been stationed.

The conference, which is attended by 250 members, is presided over by Bishop E. B. Kephart, of Annville, Pa. The meetings are said to be of unusual interest. The conference will probably continue until next week.

SUCCESSFUL MEETING.

The rally at the west Wayne street church of Christ yesterday was a grand success, there being a full house both morning and evening. 257 attended the bible school and one access at the morning service.

DISCUSSED

The Question of a New Organization.

There were only a few of the saloon keepers present at the meeting yesterday afternoon, and no definite action toward the reorganization of the association was taken. The interests of the members were discussed and a decision reached that no proprietor of a saloon who permitted a wine room to be connected with his place of business, or who kept an improper house, should be received into the association. Another meeting will probably be called within the next few days.

MURDER

For Which Ben Simons was Convicted Recalled.

Friends of Ben Simons, the colored laborer who was convicted of murder in the second degree by a Lima grand jury, and sentenced for life, are making an effort to have his sentence commuted. Simons shot and killed a negro in the spring of 1897, and it is now claimed that it was a case of self defense, the trouble having started over a woman. An effort will be made to have the sentence made for some definite period.

MEANS

Better Things for Next Year.

A Nice Surplus

Makes Fair Directors Feel Good.

The Rain was Fortunately Staved Off Until the Last Minute

And Every Race Besides the Other Attractions were Carried Out During the Week as Previously Advertised.

The fair board saw the approach of rain Saturday afternoon with a complacent smile, and were ready to welcome it as cordially as those who have empty cisterns. It had been staved off just long enough and while it had some slight effect on the final races, it was not sufficient to mar the pleasures of the last day and the crowd in attendance saw some close and exciting finishes.

As to the financial end of it, the receipts are beyond the expenses and there will be a good surplus after all premiums and all persons are paid in full. It was undoubtedly the biggest and best fair in the history of the association, and the result encourages the directors to look about for a chance to improve things next year.

It has been proven that a five day fair has its reward, especially if there is something to attract and a good race program is what will do it. The free for all pace drew a paying crowd and in addition to a well-filled grand stand there were a large number of people scattered about the grounds interested in watching the tearing up process and removal of all signs of the week's activity.

The cake walk may have helped to advertise the last day, but there was but little in the way of reward, as only two couples took part and they couldn't parade very gracefully in dust several inches thick. Those who witnessed a cake walk for the first time were naturally amused. The contestants were Harry Fisher of Des Moines, Ia., and Sarah Simmons, of this city; Terry Hopkins, of Baltimore and Anna Fisher, of Paducah, Ky. J. E. Thomas, of Chicago, was the leader.

The Races.

The free for all pace had two horses entered that held the eye of the crowd, Paulding Boy, and Lena Hill, but while the little black mare made some wonderful bursts of speed in the home stretch, coming up out of the bunch to the repeated danger of overtaking Paulding Boy, she always fell just a little bit short of the wire. Paulding Boy won in straight heats and Lena Hill was an undisputed second. The summary:

Free for all pace—Purse $300.

Paulding Boy, (Vogel)	1-1-1
Lena Hill, (Snyder)	2-2-2
Chestnut Boy, (Apple Bros.)	3-3-4
Marshall, (Smeall)	4-4-3

Time—2:15½; 2:18; 2:18¾.

The 2:30 trot brought out five starters and while the time in this race was slow, the rain making the track decidedly heavy, there was a strong rivalry and it took five heats before Morline for the second time during the meeting captured the big end of the purse. The result is shown by the following summary:

2:30 trot—Purse $300.

Moline, (Moline)	1-1-2-2-1
Judge Cullen, (Oglesby)	4-5-1-1-5
Arthur Czar, (Vogel)	2-2-3-3-4
Walter Smith, (Dellinger)	5-3-4-4-2
Kate D., (Cable)	3-4-5-5-

Time—2:25¼, 2:25½, 2:25¼, 2:27½, 2:38¾.

It took some time to get the runners away in the mile dash, but when the field once got the flag, there was nothing to it but The Doctor. Forbearance finished second and Jim Bolen third.

Time—1:52½.

Got the Ribbons.

Hal Onward, in addition to his inherited beauty, today wears all the honors that an unprejudiced judge could give him, and his owner, P. R. Hoagland, is naturally proud of the result. The handsome grandson of Brown Hill carried off the prize in the age class, being foaled in 1896, and was also given the coveted red ribon in the sweepstakes. The rules of the association demand that stallions of the age shown appear in harness, and speed and style are also considered when it comes to judging points. The natural gait of Hal Onward is the pace, and when he passed all of the rivals and then came back down the course at a trot which was as easy and smooth as his competitors, the spectators received him with a burst of applause that the Judge could not help recognized as an echo of his own judgment. He won out over all stallions shown and was the prize horse of the big stock show.

Random Notes.

Horsemen all over the country were greatly interested in the important feature at the Oakley races, which were on at Cincinnati last week, and the fact that Edith W. got a record for the fastest time made by a mare in three straight heats set them all to talking. She won in 2:05¼; 2:05¼ and 2:05¼. Edith W is owned by John Weideman, of Whichita, Kan., who is a brother of Mrs. Charles Dienstbarger, of Delphos.

Effie Powers, once the idol of hangers-on at the Lima track, and still a factor in the racing world has an ever-present reminder at race meetings held here. The holders of the privilege for selling cigars always have a strong lunged vender to push the cigar dedicated to her, and he hangs on to her name as though positive that the reputation of the horse rather than the flavor would sell it.

HELLO BILL.

"Hello Bill," a farce comedy of the more than ordinary legitimate type, which has commanded the attention of thousands of theatre-goers of the larger cities of the United States, will be seen at the Faurot Tuesday evening. Wherever "Hello Bill" has been seen, it has invariably made friends, so staunch and true, that its return is anticipated with cordial pleasure, and regarded as an event of more than common concern. Willis Maxwell Goodine, the author of "Hello Bill" has a keen idea of all that is humorous in life, and has written a pure, clean American play, which is bound to live in the good opinion of amusement lovers for a very long time to come.

Rise in the Price of Oil Will Mean Renewed Activity in the Field

And the Song of the Drill Will Now be Heard in All Parts of the Land—No Change in the Market Today.

The predictions that there would be a break in the oil market before long and that the price would necessarily take an upward trend on account of the prevailing conditions, has proven true, and producers are now watching with a degree of expectancy to see where it is going to stop. The announcement Saturday that eastern prices had risen five cents and western three cents may be said to have been received with but little surprise, but it came just as welcome nevertheless, and those who held on to ventures with the assurance that the Standard thermometer would go up instead of down will now reap the benefits.

The rise in price is due to several agencies, the most important of which is shortage in the production of crude which of late has fallen decidedly short of the demands. The runs and shipments of the various fields have indicated clearly that the advance was sure to come and all that could be done by those who were particularly affected by the condition of the market, was to wait with such patience as they could command.

One thing is assured, the rise will stimulate activity in the field, in spite of the still high price of material, and the song of the drill will be louder than ever in those sections of Allen county and all northwestern Ohio where the late conditions have had the effect of keeping down the production. There is also scarcely any doubt but that the price of oil both east and west will go even higher—all indications point in that direction. The market as it now stands is as follows:

Pennsylvania	$1.30
Tiona	1.45
Corning	1.13
New Castle	1.05
North Lima	94
South Lima	.89
Indiana	.89
Somerset	.78
Whitehouse	1.00
Lacey	.78

FUNERAL

Services were Held at Two O'clock Today.

Over Remains of Mrs. John Seward. Beautiful Woodlawn Her Last Resting Place.

The last sad rites were performed this afternoon at 2 o'clock, over all that is earthly of the devoted wife and mother, Mrs. John Seward, whose death Friday night was such a sad shock to her family and large circle of friends. The services which were held from the late residence No. 708 west Spring street, were extremely impressive and inexpressibly sad. The intense grief of the sorrowing husband and the innocence of the eight months old boy as he was lifted up to look for the last time into his mother's face, were more than sufficient to unnerve every man and woman who had assembled to pay silent tribute to the memory of the noble woman, now departed. Rev. G. F. G. Hoyt, of Christ Episcopal church, officiated.

The remains were placed in the receiving vault in Woodlawn.

GREW UP FROM EPIGRAMS.

How President McKinley Started His Buffalo Speech.

President McKinley's great speech at Buffalo grew from three phrases thought out by him one evening in Canton while smoking his after dinner cigar, says a special dispatch from Washington to the New York World. This was three weeks before he was to leave Canton for Buffalo on the visit which terminated with his death.

The president and Secretary Cortelyou were sitting together in the president's office in his home. It was 7 o'clock, and the lights had not yet been lighted. The president sat quietly smoking, looking at the ceiling and watching the smoke curl upward. Mr. Cortelyou sat across the desk from him, glancing over some papers. Neither had said a word for ten minutes, when suddenly the president took his cigar from his lips and said, apropos of nothing at all apparently:

"Expositions are the timekeepers of progress."

Mr. Cortelyou made a note of the epigram on a bit of paper, but said nothing. The president smoked a few minutes and then said:

"Amity is better than animosity."

Mr. Cortelyou made another note. Mr. McKinley lapsed back into his thoughtful mood. He puffed at his cigar for a time and then again broke the silence:

"Reciprocity is better than retaliation."

The president finished his cigar, walked over and looked out of the window, returned and sat down at the desk again and then took up routine business with the secretary. There was not a word between the president and the secretary about the three phrases, but after the work was finished and the president had gone in to see if Mrs. McKinley was comfortable Mr. Cortelyou went up stairs and had one of the stenographers typewrite the three phrases, one at the top of the paper, one in the middle and one at the bottom. Next morning before breakfast Mr. Cortelyou took the sheet of paper and put it on top of everything else on the president's desk. When Mr. McKinley came in, he picked up the paper, read over the epigrams, and then, turning to Mr. Cortelyou, said, with a smile:

"We have begun the Buffalo speech, I see."

The president expanded the three ideas into the Buffalo speech. He did not use "Amity is better than animosity" or "Reciprocity is better than retaliation" in those exact words, but that notable epigram, "Expositions are the timekeepers of progress," went safely through all the revisions and attracted immediate attention in the speech.

The president dictated little of the speech. He wrote it out by paragraphs, taking fully two weeks to do it. He used a pad on his knee on the porch and also wrote some of it while he was in Mrs. McKinley's room. When he had it to his liking, he dictated it from his rough draft. Then he went over it two or three times and polished it until it became the perfect piece of composition it was when he delivered it.

BUILD VENICE SKY OF GLASS

Mrs. Jack Gardiner's Palace Court to Have Novel Roof.

Mrs. Jack Gardiner's Venetian palace on the Fenway is still far from completion, says a Boston dispatch to the New York Evening Journal. Objects of art lie around on the floors that are worth the ransom of a king. Mrs. Gardiner has engaged, it is stated, John La Farge to create for the glass roof that covers the great inner court a most original design in stained glass.

The idea is Mrs. Gardiner's own and is nothing less than to have over this court a reproduction of an Italian summer sky. The main body of the glass will be soft blue of several hues, scattered over with artistically arranged masses of white, pearl, gray and tender rose colors to the semblance of clouds.

The sun shining through this roof, even on a winter's day, will give, it is expected, a charming illusion of the skyscape of the Italy so beloved of Boston's society queen.

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

C. Unger, 212 Maple street, Champaign, Ill., writes: "I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption. I tried a great many remedies and was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar. It cured me, and I have not been troubled since."

UNFURLED DIXIE'S FLAG

President Roosevelt's Mother Defied New York Crowd.

HUSBAND'S ENTREATIES FAILED.

In Spite of Them the Flag Remained. An Incident of the Civil War Showing Where the New Chief Magistrate of the Nation Gets His Indomitable Will.

Through the paternal branch of the ancestral tree may have flown some of the sap that gave President Roosevelt his indomitable spirit, but certain it is that the maternal branch was rich in that quality that marked the Bullochs of Georgia for their resolution, pertinacity and strength of will. No better exponent of those traits could be found than Martha Bulloch Roosevelt, the mother of the president.

Not long after the civil war Mrs. Roosevelt was on a visit to Savannah, Ga., where she had many friends, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. She was a Georgia woman of distinguished ancestry, the Bulloch family being one of the best in the state and its representatives having served with distinction in the highest positions. It was but natural, therefore, that she should have been well received upon her visit to Savannah and that there should have been rare pleasure to her, as unreconstructed Confederate, in her intercourse with her own people, those who had fought and bled upon the field of battle or fought the greater fight of waiting and watching.

Reunion with her southern friends after the years of the war that she had spent at her home in New York was a pleasure to Mrs. Roosevelt, and it was with the keenest relish that she recounted stories of the times and of the trials that she suffered in the city of her adoption through her unswerving loyalty to the cause of the south, a cause in which one brother, Irvine I. Bulloch, fought as an officer aboard the cruiser Alabama and which another brother represented at England's capital city. One of these stories clearly revealed the character of the woman and leaves little difficulty in determining whence the president gets some of those qualities that have tended to his preferment.

It was at a dinner given in Mrs. Roosevelt's honor by Mrs. Heartletta S. Cohen that she told the story. Of late years, because of Theodore Roosevelt's rapid advancement, it has been recalled by his mother's old friends, who feel pride in having known the mother of the president and gladly ascribe to her some of the traits that are seen in the son.

It was just when the spirit of peace, uncertain as to whether it should alight, was hovering over the land. Theodore Roosevelt the elder decided at about that time to give some great social function. The Roosevelt mansion was accordingly bravely decked in bunting and with American flags. From every window save one flew the stars and stripes. That one was of Mrs. Roosevelt's boudoir. Her husband had not desired to omit it from the decorative scheme, but she would have none of it. Instead she hit upon a plan that would clearly reveal her sentiments.

Stopping not to consider the peril in which it might place her and her husband, but determined to show that all in the house were not of the cause of the north, she drew from among her most cherished treasures the stars and bars, the emblem of the south. Going to the window, she firmly fixed its staff and allowed its folds to flutter from the breeze.

On the instant almost the hostile ensign was noted. A passerby in the street below descried it. In hot indignation he pointed it out to another. As mobs will, so one began to grow, and soon the street was choked with angry people who shook threatening fists at the Confederate flag and inveighed most bitterly.

Alarmed by the gathering that was swelled every moment and that directed its wrath against his home, Theodore Roosevelt sought the cause that had stirred the people to anger. He was not long in finding it. Fierce acclaim directed his gaze, which rested upon the flattering emblem of the south. The Roosevelt nature has never quailed before a crowd. Theodore the elder saw that imminent danger could probably be averted only through his persuading his wife to remove the objectionable flag. With a word to the crowd he left, entered the house and found his wife. He told her what she already knew—that the anger of the mob had been excited by her indiscreet display of her colors and that it would be well for her to take in the flag.

"I shall not do so," declared the mother of the president. "The flag is mine. The boudoir is mine. I love the flag, for it represents my native land. No ruffian hand shall invade the privacy of my boudoir to drag down that flag, nor shall ruffian shouts force me to remove it from the window of a room that is wholly mine. Explain to them that I am a southern woman; that I love the south. Do anything you like except touch that flag. It shall not come down."

And it did not. Theodore Roosevelt went again to face the crowd. He made a speech, dwelling with finesse upon his wife's love for her own land and molding the mob to his will and to an indulgence of Mrs. Roosevelt in her desire to fly the flag of her beloved south.

The crowd dispersed, but the story remains to show a maternal quality that has made a president.

BRIEF HISTORY OF THE CUP

Half Century of Victories Has Kept Yachting Trophy on This Side.

The America's cup was won in 1851 at Cowes by the America, an American schooner yacht, against thirteen contestants. For nineteen years the cup was held here, and in 1870 nine other yachts entered the race for it, but the Magic, an American boat, won. In 1871 there were three yachts entered—Sappho, Livonia and Columbia. The Columbia won the first two, the Livonia the third and the Sappho the last two, keeping the cup on this side of the water. Since then the races, says the New York World, have been between one challenger and one defender.

This is the record:

1876—Madeleine won from Countess of Dufferin Aug. 11; Madeleine won from Countess Dufferin Aug. 12.

1881—Mischief won from Atalanta, Nov. 9; Mischief won from Atalanta, Nov. 10.

1885—Puritan won from Genesta Sept. 14; Puritan won from Genesta Sept. 16.

1886—Mayflower won from Galatea, Sept. 9; Mayflower won from Galatea Sept. 11.

1887—Volunteer won from Thistle Sept. 27; Volunteer won from Thistle Sept. 29.

1893—Vigilant won from Valkyrie Oct. 7; Vigilant won from Valkyrie Oct. 9; Vigilant won from Valkyrie Oct. 13.

1895—Defender won from Valkyrie II. Sept. 7; Valkyrie II. disqualified Sept. 10; Defender won from Valkyrie II. Sept. 12.

1899—Columbia won from Shamrock Oct. 16; Columbia won from Shamrock (disabled) Oct. 17; Columbia won from Shamrock Oct. 20.

The America's cup is held by the New York Yacht club under a deed of gift, to be challenged for by any foreign yacht club. The trophy is of silver, weighing 134 ounces.

AUTOS TERRORIZE FRANCE.

Peasants Threaten Lynch Law Against Motorists Who Scorch.

A Paris correspondent of the Pittsburg Dispatch writes that some people predict that the day is not far off when the peasantry of France will rise up in a mass against scorching motorists. In certain districts whole villages have already united in anti-automobile campaigns, the method of warfare employed consisting in strewing roads with nails and broken bottles. This has been done in Normandy, but the glass and bits of iron were found to damage the horses' feet as much as automobile tires and, moreover, rendered cycling an impossibility for the many country laborers in France who ride to and from their work. So that plan of campaign had to be given up. Now peasants in some parts contemplate resorting to nothing less than lynch law. In certain districts villagers seriously talk of going about with fowling pieces in hand and winging motorists who tear through hamlets and small towns at fifty miles an hour.

The temper of Jacques Bonhomme has been roused to such an extent that he may very well one day carry out his threat.

A WHITE MOOSE SEEN.

Rare Curiosity Reported by a Party of Hunters in Maine.

A great curiosity is reported to have been seen a few days ago by a party of hunters in camp in the woods at Mosquito narrows, Moxie pond, near the forks of the Kennebec river, says a dispatch from Augusta, Me., to the New York Sun. It was a white moose and was seen three miles from the camp.

Three members of the camping party were out looking for birds when they came across the animal. He seemed to be about as large as a two-year-old steer. He had no horns and was perfectly white. One of the party held out his hand and called to the moose. The animal approached to within four feet of the hunter and stood for ten minutes watching him, while the rest of the party looked him over. They were unable to discover any dark marks upon him.

All the time this young white moose stood before them the old cow moose was only a few rods away. After a time both creatures bounded away and were lost in the woods. Woodsmen say that while at rare intervals white deer have been seen they never before heard of a white moose.

A Hunting Novelty.

A novel idea for sportsmen seems to be of Portuguese origin. An electric lamp is placed on the collar of the hunting dog, and this frightens foxes and badgers from their burrows when the dog enters.

Uncle Sam to Columbia.

Say, Columbia,
You are the flagship
Of the republic today,
And don't you forget it.
I've got my eagle eye,
My American eagle eye,
On you,
And you hadn't better
Black it for me
By letting that Irishman
Lead you down the homestretch.
See?
Of course the Shamrock
Is a lovely flower;
But, Columbia,
You're [illegible] gem of this ocean,
And it [illegible] to you
To keep [illegible] brilliance blazing
In the foretront of the fray
For the cup and what it stands for,
Like a star that leads the way.
Old Glory and the eagle
And the glorious Fourth and me
Are rooting with the bleachers
For you and victory,
And if you slip a backstay
Or anything like that,
Gee roosalem, Columby,
Where shall we all be at?
Now spread your sails and hustle;
I've put you there to win,
And when you've licked the Shamrock
Go back and tow her in
Just to show
We've no hard feelings
For Sir Thomas,
A good fellow.

NEW MARINE MARVEL.

Interesting Facts About the Kronprinz Wilhelm.

CONTAINS ALL CONVENIENCES.

Latest Addition to the North German Lloyd Transatlantic Fleet Is Equipped With the Most Perfect Arrangements For Safety and Splendid New Technical Improvements.

The twin screw express steamer Kronprinz Wilhelm of the North German Lloyd company was built by the Vulcan Shipbuilding company of Stettin, Germany, and was intended for a record breaker to compete against the famous Hamburg-American line steamer Deutschland, built by the same shipbuilders, says the New York Times. The dimensions of the Kronprinz Wilhelm are: Length, 663 feet, 5½ feet shorter than the Deutschland; beam, 66 feet, 1 foot less than that ship; depth, 43 feet, 1 foot less than the champion, whose record she will try to break.

In gross tonnage the Kronprinz Wilhelm registers 15,000 as against the Deutschland's 16,000 tons and in displacement 21,000 as against 23,000 tons. In motive power the Kronprinz Wilhelf is equipped relatively with about the same power as that which drives the present champion, the actual figures being in the case of the newer steamer two quadruple expansion engines of 33,000 horsepower each as against the same engines of 35,000 horsepower each. Steam in each case is furnished by twelve double and four single end boilers.

In appearance the Kronprinz Wilhelm closely resembles the Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse and the Deutschland, there being two masts and four smokestacks. The accommodations for the first cabin passengers are placed amidships on the main, the upper and the promenade decks. Four cabines de luxe, composed of sitting room, bedroom and bathroom, and eight apartments, consisting of bedroom and bathroom, have been provided.

Particular attention has been paid in the construction of this vessel to the adoption of the most advanced and perfect arrangements for safety. A double bottom, that extends nearly the entire length of the steamer, is divided into twenty-four water tight compartments, besides which the entire hull is separated into seventeen water tight compartments by fifteen transverse bulkheads that extend to the upper deck and by a longitudinal bulkhead in the engine room. To these safety arrangements should be added a large and extensive pumping plant of the most varied description, fire extinguishing apparatus of every kind and a full equipment of boats, of which the steamer carries twenty-four.

The dining room contains 414 seats. The prevailing tone of the panel work of the room is green, relieved by bronze panelling on the walls. The ceiling is decorated with allegorical paintings representing the seasons, day and night, etc. The subjects of the paintings on the walls are the house in which the crown prince, for whom the boat is named, lives, the former palace and the cadet school in Plon where the crown prince received his education. Adjoining the main dining room there are forward and aft on each side extensions of this dining room, forming, as it were, small dining rooms.

A large vestibule on the promenade deck opens into the social hall above the dining room, which shows at one end the life size portrait of the German Crown Prince Wilhelm. The walls of this social hall are covered with fine silk brocade and with pictures of Prussian cities. The social hall is provided with comfortable sofas and easy chairs.

The library is decorated in renaissance style. The seats are upholstered with mignonette colored velour de Genes. The table covers are decorated with embroidery, and the curtains consist of gold silk. Smyrna carpets cover the floors of both the social hall and the library. The ceiling and the walls are decorated with paintings representing the muses.

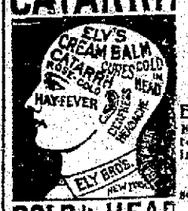

The Kronprinz Wilhelm contains a number of remarkable new technical improvements. An extensively ramified telephone service connects the captain on the bridge with the chiefs of the various departments of the steamer. The chief steward is provided with an office similar to the office of a modern hotel, where the public can secure information on matters pertaining to their tickets, baggage, rooms, etc. Special attention has been paid to the housekeeping features of the steamer. The refrigerating rooms for every species of provisions are most extensive and are kept at a certain temperature by ice machines. In the staterooms the passengers will find every convenience for their comfort. The apartments de luxe are connected with the chief steward's office by telephone. Ascent to the crow's nest of the Kronprinz Wilhelm is not on the outside of the mast on a ladder, but inside the mast, and the crow's nest itself is connected with the bridge by a speaking tube. All the clocks on the steamer, in the dining rooms, in the vestibules, in the kitchen, etc., are electrically regulated from a central clock in the chartroom.

The Kronprinz Wilhelm is provided with an apparatus for wireless telegraphy.

REPUBLICANS BADLY ALARMED

Over the Question of the Inequalities of State Taxation.

RAGING AGAINST THE HON. TOM L. JOHNSON.

Because He Appeared Before the State Board of Appraisement and Emphasized a Few Startling Facts Relating to Railroads.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 23.—The Republican leaders from Senator Hanna down, are much perturbed over the fact that they are not going to be able to keep the question of unjust and unequal taxation out of the Ohio campaign.

This is all because Mayor Johnson of this city went before the Republican board of appraisement at Columbus recently and presented a few facts concerning railway values, assessments and taxation.

The facts presented to the board showed not only that discriminations were made against other forms of property but that some of the railroads were discriminated against, the Pennsylvania system, for instance, being assessed three times as much as other lines systems of equal taxable value.

It ought be plain enough that if the lowest assessment is just, the highest one is unjust, and vice versa, and ought to be put up or down as justice demands.

Here are a few facts deduced from the report of the Commissioner of Railways and Telegraphs for 1900:

The total main line mileage of the Ohio railways is 8,691 miles.

These roads have common stock to the amount of $211,937,432, and $94,-967,558, or a total of $306,904,990.

They have a bonded indebtedness of $295,562,658; the stock and bonds amounting to $602,467,462, constituting their apparent value.

They are placed on the grand duplicate as of the value of $168,228,120 for purposes of taxation.

The annual earnings of these roads from all sources in 1900 amounted to the sum of $26,049,117.

The total outlay was: For operating, maintenance of way, betterments, equipments, conducting transportation, salaries, general expenses, etc., $20,239,129; taxes, general and excise, $2,987,091; interest on bonds, etc., $11,-326,123; total, $73,622,353.

Deducting the total outlay from the total income, the net income is $12,-426,799, or 11.47 per cent interest on the assessed valuation.

The total valuation of the farm lands of Ohio is $603,103,763.

Assuming that they would yield as much gross income on this valuation as the railroads earn on the $168,228,-120, the gross income of all the farmers of Ohio would be in round numbers $330,000,000, and their net income at the same rate would be $67,200,000.

But the statistics and common knowledge show that neither the gross nor the net earnings of the farmers reach any such figures.

At the outside limit, the net earnings of the farmers of the state on their farms, assessed for taxation at $603,103,763, are only twice as much as that of the railroads on their tax valuation of $168,228,120.

Will any one claim that there is not injustice and inequality in this system of taxation? The facts and the figures speak for themselves.

If the net earnings of the railroads are one-half as much as the net earnings of the farms, assessed for taxation at $603,103,763, the tax valuation of the railroads should be at least $301,551,188, which is practically the face of their bonded indebtedness, or of their stock, and one-half of the face value of the two combined.

Here are some singular discrepanices in valuations of roads running through Ohio and Indiana:

One road is assessed at $14,000 a mile in Ohio and $35,125 in Indiana. Another $17,000 in Ohio and $24,445 in Indiana. Another, $11,000 in Ohio and $28,644 in Indiana, the general average being $12,000 per mile in Ohio and $36,000 in Indiana.

These roads are just as valuable in Ohio as in Indiana, but if there is any difference the greater value is on the Ohio side of the line.

There is no claim that there is overvaluation in the state of Indiana, hence it follows that there is serious undervaluation in Ohio, and an undervaluation that works a hardship on the farmers especially and on the taxpayers of all other classes generally.

According to the report of the state auditor for 1900 the taxable values of all kinds in Ohio were $1,834,053,228. The total taxes levied and collected were $44,817,519. Of this the railroads paid, including excise taxes, $2,617,477, and the other property $42,200,042. These figures and discrepancies tell their own story.

There can be no valid objection to any movement which looks to an equal assessment of tax values based on some fixed percentage of the salable value of the property.

This would only mean the fair and equitable distribution. This question is presented by the Democrats as a vital one for the people of Ohio to settle now and for themselves. The Republicans seek to avoid it by lugging in national and foreign issues.

There is no disposition or intent on the part of the Democratic party or leaders to impose unjust taxation on railroad or other corporations. This would be an injustice to this species of property, and is not in any sense contemplated.

The Democratic contention is simply this: That every species of property, real and personal, tangible and intangible, shall be taxed as nearly as possible according to its true value in money.

Who can object to this? Only those who wish to enjoy the benefits without sharing the burdens of government.

Farmers and real estate owners can not escape their share of the burdens except in isolated instances. Nor do they complain of these burdens per se. But they do complain, and justly, too, when they see other forms of property placed on the tax duplicate at from 15 to 30 per cent of its value, while theirs is assessed at from 60 per cent of its value upward.

Now, if all the other forms of value were on the duplicate at 60 per cent the tax burden would be fairly and justly distributed. It matters not why or how this inequality of valuation, and consequent inequality of taxation, is brought about, its injustice is apparent, and it becomes an immediate question of enforcing the laws on the statute books and bringing about an equality of valuations, and naturally the equality of tax burdens.

To accomplish this the Democratic party is waging this year's campaign. The Republican leaders refuse to consider the question at all, or listen to the rightful complaints of the taxpayers. On the contrary, they seek to divert the minds of the voters from their own immediate affairs to national questions, to be settled three years hence.

Common prudence ought to lead the voters of Ohio to vote direct upon the questions that directly affect them.

"Yellow" Newspapers.

(From Allen W. Thurman's Speech at Columbus.)

I know some newspapers denounce what is known as "yellow journalism," but the truth of the matter is that a vast majority of them are tinged with the saffron hue. About all that can be claimed is, that some are of a much redder yellow than others. The condemnation of this character of journalism, I know, in the editorial columns of many papers, and this is pointed out to prove how pure and how good they are. But, gentlemen of these same papers, how about your head lines, your news and political columns and cartoons? In the first, the sensational of the highest type seems to be the main object sought, and in the latter an indirect attempt at the assassination of both public and private character. And more, if any public man dares to even criticize in the slightest way, he is hounded into a political graveyard. You thus make cowardly and inefficient nearly every public official, for no matter how conscientious they may be, they are always standing in fear of a blow. Put a stop to all this. Make the newspaper clean, not on one page, but on every page.

A Clear Issue.

The Democrats of Ohio propose to wage the coming campaign on state issues, and with a Democratic governor and legislature will make the laws so that the tax burdens will be equalized: that is, the corporations and franchises will be required to pay their just share of the taxes.—Bellaire Herald-Tribune.

With a Telescope.

Laboring men who were deceived by the "full dinner-pail" and "protection to American industry" slogans in 1900 are earnestly requested to look into the dinner-pails of the striking steel workers, and to note the actions of the gigantic steel trust "infant."—Columbus Town Topics.

A Lamentable Fact.

The assassination of Governor Goebel of Kentucky has been recalled by the tragedy at Buffalo. It is remembered that several of the known conspirators in that crime are still at large, and that the anarchistic governor of one of the great states is shielding one of the principal assassins from arrest.—Bucyrus Forum.

Will Not Be Accommodated.

The Republican managers want the Ohio campaign conducted without any reference to Ohio affairs. The people of the state, without much regard to party affiliations, are not disposed to accommodate them. The extravagances of the state administration and the inequalities of taxation are the things the Ohio voters and taxpayers are interested in this year. They propose to call the taxeaters to account.

Bryan's Tribute.

The tribute paid to the personal character of the late President McKinley by Hon. William J. Bryan is the most eloquent and touching of the many expressions of public men and statesmen in the country, and shows how fully he rises above the lines of party in the face of a great national crime.

Honors Are Easy.

The Ohio State Journal, a "good" Republican paper, charged Senator Foraker with being "the king of lobbyists" before the Ohio legislature. Senator Foraker characterized The State Journal as "the most unmitigated liar of the age." So honors are easy between them.

CHANLER'S NEW BOOK.

An Explanation of "X Faculty" by the Author.

SCIENTIFIC AUTHORITIES QUOTED.

Former Husband of Amelie Rives Describes Personal Experiences During His Studies—He Says the "X Faculty" Is Pre-eminently the Literary Faculty.

John Armstrong Chanler, the divorced husband of Amelie Rives, now Princess Troubetskoy, the noted Virginia author, replying to a recent telegram from the New York Journal asking a detailed statement of his plans for publication and details touching his scientific study entitled the "X Faculty," said:

I have as yet made no arrangements for publication, as John Chilton, the alias under which I lived for two months in Lynchburg, could hardly negotiate with publishers for the work of John Armstrong Chanler. I fear, however, toward publishing all my works myself.

Before touching the "X Faculty" a few extracts from scientific authorities are needful. I quote from the work of Frank Podmore, A. M., entitled "Studies in Psychical Research" (Putnams), chapter 12:

"SECONDARY CONSCIOUSNESS.

"Of late years attention has been strongly directed to certain mental states in which actions such as ordinarily imply the accompaniment of will and intelligence are performed without leaving any trace on the normal consciousness. Such unconsciousness or subconscious cerebral activities play a large part in psychical research. Some of the most striking and characteristic manifestations of what we have called telepathy testify to these submental activities. The phenomena of clairvoyance and spirit impersonating are connected with mental states divided by a more or less definite line from the normal working life. The study of hypnotism indeed is little else than the investigation of the workings of a secondary state of consciousness."

It is important, then, for the right appreciation of, or evidence in general and indispensable and as regards the matters to be considered in the succeeding chapter, to have some knowledge of the facts roughly brought together under the heading of secondary consciousness. So far observers for the most part have centered their attention on one set of the phenomena to be explained, and the explanation put forward has been proportionally one sided and inadequate. There remains as the only generalization which is professedly founded on a comprehensive survey of all the facts at issue the hypothesis put forward by the late W. H. F. Myers, president of the Society For Psychical Research of England, in his paper on the subliminal consciousness, supported to some extent by Dr. Max Dessoir, author of "Das Doppenlich."

The following passage contains a concise statement of the theory as held by Dr. Dessoir:

"In the course of ordinary life certain actions occur which presuppose for their origination all the faculty of the human spirit, but which nevertheless work themselves out without the knowledge of the agent. The actions we term automatic. Among them are certain automatic movements as the act of dressing oneself or of retracing a well known path and some other automatic performances, such as counting one's steps or adding up columns of the figures. The latter acts plainly indicate the existence of a separate train of memory implied upon them, and, moreover, although they take place without the agent's knowledge, they cannot take place without his consciousness. They cannot be truly unconscious acts. They must in some fashion belong to a subconsciousness, which in its relation to the far more potent upper consciousness may best be understood if we consider it as a secondary consciousness, and if we regard consciousness and the memory as the mental constituents of an ego we may boldly say that every man conceals within himself the germs of a secondary personality."

The "X Faculty" is founded upon the above extracts as well as the profound researches of Professor Flournoy, professor of psychology in the University of Geneva, Switzerland, as exemplified in his book, "From India to Mars" (Harpers); also in Professor William James' (professor of psychology in Harvard university) work of 1,400 pages entitled "The Principles of Psychology" (Holt).

In conclusion I will say that the "X faculty" is pre-eminently the literary faculty. Before the development of the "X faculty" in me I never wrote a line of poetry, and since then I have written the "X Faculty," a short study in advanced experimental psychology, shortly to be published; a historical novel, well under way, which I expect to finish by next spring; a theatrical blank verse play, also well under way, founded on an incident in the said novel, and finally 400 sonnets.

All of this has been done since my arrest and incarceration, the 13th day of March, 1897.

Riding the President's Exercise.

President Roosevelt, according to the New York Journal, has decided to depend chiefly upon horseback riding and walking for exercise when he is in Washington, and Colonel Whitney of General Miles' staff has been requested to look out for a good cavalry mount for him.

BOY

Fired at on West Wayne Street.

Strange Affair

Which the Police Cannot Unravel.

Lad was a Carrier Boy and was Frightened Half Out of His Wits

When He was Admitted to the Home of S. S. Wheeler. Police Learned Nothing After Investigation.

There was an incident enacted on west Wayne street early Sunday morning which has some rather strange features connected with it, but so far the police are unable to get at the bottom of what will probably ever remain a mystery. One of the principals was a carrier boy employed on the Gazette, and while delivering his route he was startled by a sudden command to halt. Without waiting to respond he changed his course and ran across to North street, three shots from a revolver followed him. Reaching the home of S. S. Wheeler, he ran up on the porch and crouched down in the shadows pressed the electric button. A few minutes later Mr. Wheeler responded and to the appeals for help opened the door and admitted the frightened youth.

When the latter could summon enough breath, he reported the rather strange occurrence and Mr. Wheeler telephoned for the police. The lad left before the arrival of an officer and said he would go to the station as he did not believe the men, of whom there were three, had followed him. The police made an investigation but were unable to fathom the strange affair. It is believed the shooting was done by drunken rowdies who wanted to frighten the boy, but what can hardly be explained was another shot which occurred about ten minutes after the first fusilade. The firing was heard by a number of people in the neighborhood who were aroused from their beds.

Prominent Citizen Died from Typhoid Fever

After an Illness of About Three Weeks.

Sad Death of William Welsh, of North West Street Which Occurred Saturday Evening. Funeral Tomorrow.

The sad death of William Welsh occurred at his late home on north West street, Saturday evening at five o'clock. The deceased young man was stricken with an attack of typhoid fever three weeks ago and although he had the attention of three of Lima's leading physicians the sad death could not be averted. He was born at Glynnwood, Ohio, Sept. 22d, 1862, and has been a resident of this city since 1880. For a long time he has been an industrious employe of the C. H. & D. shops, being a skilled wood worker in the planing mill. May 22, 1891 he wedded Miss Mary Dillon, of Glynnwood and to them were born four children, ranging in age from 8 years to 18 months, who together with the grief stricken mother, are left to mourn the death of a fond and indulgent father and a dutiful husband. The children thus deprived of the care of a father are Dillon, aged eighteen years, Bernadine, aged six, Adrian, aged four and Helen, aged eighteen months. He was insured in the C. H. & D. mutual for $1000, and also carried a policy in the shop employe's local association, which pays in case of sickness and also an amount toward the funeral expenses. The family had recently moved into their comfortable new home on north West street, which the deceased had recently had built in the Ashton addition.

The funeral services will be held at St. Rose church tomorrow morning, at 8 o'clock, and the sorrowing relatives will leave at 9:47 over the L. E. & W. for Glynnwood, where the interment will take place. The following relatives of the deceased have arrived here to attend the funeral services and to accompany the remains to their final resting place: Michael Welsh, of Fostoria; Andrew Welsh, of Glynnwood; Martin H. Welsh and family of Hume; Patrick Welsh, of Marion, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. John H. McAvoy and Mr. and Mrs. William O'Connell, Thomas Dillon, of St. Marys, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. John Dillon, of Glynnwood; David Dillon and family of Hartford City, Ind., and Mrs. Charles Miller of Warren, Ind.

OFFICERS

Of Second Regiment Meet Here Tomorrow.

Walter Campbell Appointed by Adjutant General Gyger to Succeed Capt. Chas. Price.

There will be an officers meeting of the commissioned staff of the Second Regiment in this city tomorrow, and it is quite probable that several matters in connection with the great Canton trip will be brought up for consideration and disposal.

As the meeting is one of considerable importance, offering opportunity for discussion on a variety of subjects pretaining to the good of the Second Regiment, there will likely be a full attendance of those included in the call.

—o—

Walter K. Campbell has been appointed by Attorney General Gyger to succeed Capt. Charlie Price, resigned, as Captain and Inspector of rifle practice.

Left to Mourn the Tragedy

And the Body

Of Zeno is Buried Unwept and Unsung.

Wife of the Dead Balloonist Displays But Little Feeling

And Viewed the Remains Yesterday With a Calmness That Indicated but Little if Any Genuine Sorrow.

The remains of Paul Hogue, better known as Zeno, the aeronaut, were buried this afternoon, charity being called upon to put away the body of the daring balloonist, who lost his life in the practice of his harrowing profession. Prof. John Knarr, of Lima, again displayed his magnanimous spirit by doing everything in his power for those who were left behind to grieve over their sudden loss, but his efforts were in a great part wasted, as the wife who was called from Springfield indicated that her mourning would be of short duration.

She did not arrive until yesterday afternoon, and then insisted that she must return on the next train. She found a room prepared for her and all expenses paid by Mr. Knarr, but there was a cold, calm indifference displayed that showed plainly her true feelings in the matter. She was taken to the undertakers, where the body lay, but there were no tears shed and it was only through Prof. Knarr's persistence that she stayed over for the funeral this afternoon. She said she was anxious to get back so she could pack up her goods and return to Canada, where she came from.

The fair board bought a lot in the cemetery and the unfortunate young man was buried in a grave provided through the kind heartedness of those who were moved by pity rather than by affection.

Another Hope Lost.

The Circuit Court has passed upon the trial and conviction of old Charlie Foster, one of the alleged murderers of Colleyman Johnson and supports the verdict of the jury. In deciding the case at Upper Sandusky the court said: "We not only sustain the verdict of the lower court, but regard the case as remarkably free of even trivial errors, and it is the further opinion of the court that the defendant was proven clearly guilty by the evidence."

Private Right of Way.

It is possible that the Cable syndicate, of Lima, which secured a franchise last week for an electric railway from the State Line into Fort Wayne, will have a private right-of-way, instead of the route granted on the public highway. Agents of the company have been going over the route for several days, bargaining with farmers for a 30-foot right-of-way through their lands.—Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette.

To Play Tuesday.

The rain of Saturday prevented the regular evening concert of Dana's band, but it has been decided to hit Tuesday evening.

Lima Was Chosen.

Another important gathering for Lima next year will be the Ohio Grand Chapter, R. A. M., which has just closed its session at Toledo. The Grand Commandery of the state has a meeting in Lima on October 9th, for which preparations are being made.

Elevated Strike Broken.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The strike on the South Side elevated road was declared to be practically at an end. Believing that they would not be able to force officials of the company to grant the concessions demanded when the strike was declared Saturday morning, members of the employes' union began deserting the ranks of the strikers Sunday, and asking to be reinstated to their old positions. Although the strike leaders will not admit that their forces are weakening, the men who applied to be reinstated took a different view of the situation, declaring that there was no chance for the men to win and that the majority of the strikers were willing to return to work.

WAPAK

Will be the Big Card for This Week.

The Fair Opens Wednesday and the Event Promises to be Bigger and Better Than Ever.

Wednesday of this week will witness the opening of the Wapakoneta fair, and according to secretary A. F. Schaffer, who acted as a judge at the Lima races last week, every day will be a big day. Especial attention has been paid to the special program and there will be four days of good racing, the fair closing Saturday evening.

Wednesday the races will be confined strictly to runners, but Thursday, which is as a rule, the banner day of all county fairs, there will be a 2:28 pace and 2:24 trot for $300 purses, which is sure to bring out fast company. Many of the horses that were in Lima races have entered.

Lima has always sent big crowds to Wapakoneta and this year will not be an exception, judging from the number who say that they are going. Secretary Schaffer, is a hustler and during his stay in Lima, he succeeded in thoroughly advertising the big Auglaize county fair.

NOTICE W. V. R. U.

There will be a regular meeting, Tuesday, Oct. 1st, at 7 o'clock in Donze hall. By order of PRESIDENT.
